Liam is a 2017 snap election candidate standing in Norwich North.

Liam moved from rural Norfolk to Norwich in 2013 as a UEA Computing Sciences student. Since leaving the university Liam started working at a Norwich-based legal-IT firm. With a background in IT, Liam understands the importance of protecting our digital rights and our right to privacy.

Having missed the chance to vote pirate in the 2015 general election, Liam decided to bring pirate politics to Norwich by becoming the first pirate candidate to stand for election in Norwich.
